MIKI is a crowd pleaser. We've based its design on an exceptionally popular workstation aesthetic. A welded support frame in the form of a looped leg gives the system an undeniably sleek and minimal profile.

MIKI is versatile, easy to assemble and reconfigure and easily integrated with a wide range of modular cable management components.

Configuration

- Bench (linear)
- Single and back to back
- 90° and 120°
- Freestanding executive furniture

Privacy

Screens provide visual and audio privacy. While they are generally located above the desktop, floor screens are also available.

Screens are also available in the following finishes:

- Laminate
- Veneer
- Perforated metal
- Glazed finish
- Acrylic
- Tackable finish
- Fabric-wrapped (pinnable)

Connectivity

Wire management, including cables from walls, floors and ducted skirts are all effectively handled by the following components:

- Single or two tier cable trays
- Power, voice and data outlets (located above or below the worktop)
- In-desk power boxes or above desk power rails
- Vertical power management from the ceiling via power poles, power blades or umbilicals.

Accessories

MIKI can be adapted to individual requirements with a combination of document trays, function walls, shelves, monitor arms, CPU cradles and castors.
